Deer Processors in Kentucky - 2024

Matthew T. Springer - Forestry and Natural Resources and Gregg Rentfrow - Animal and Food Sciences, University of Kentucky

Deer processors provide a valuable service to hunters by processing their harvested animals and to the citizens of Kentucky at large through the Hunter's for the Hungry meat donation program. Each processor has their own system in place for how animals should be brought to their facility. Individuals should reach out to the processors prior to showing up with an animal to be processed so they can understand how that processor's system works, the prices for their services, and to be prepared to follow their guidelines. This list of deer processors was made in good faith with an attempt to reach out to all known processors within the state of Kentucky, and each processor was only added with their permission. If a processor was missed in the creation of this list, please contact the UK Department of Forestry and Natural Resources - Extension at Forestry.Extension@uky.edu to be added to the list at the soonest possible time.
