Farm businesses are in a constant state of change. Each year farm operators, family, and employees experience changes in age, health, equity, and opportunity costs. Other factors, including interest, taxes, births, deaths, marriage and divorce, can all affect the vitality of a farm business. The Kentucky Farm Succession Seminar looks to bring knowledge of how to handle these changes to make it easier for you and your business. Come and listen to national experts, extension specialists, and local resources discuss these topics and more!

PRESENTER PROFILES

Jolene Brown

Jolene Brown is a walking-talking spokesperson and champion for the people of agriculture. She's a farmer in Eastern Iowa, contributor to Successful Farming magazine's popular family business column, author of two great books and an inductee in to the prestigious CPAE Speaker Hall of Fame. Her worldwide audiences appreciate her fun-filled spirit and valuable information.

Dr. Steve Isaacs

Steve Isaacs serves the UK College of Agriculture, Food & Environment as an Extension Professor in Agricultural Economics and co-director of the Kentucky Agricultural Leadership Program. Steve has won Extension and teaching awards at the state, regional, and national level. He has international farm management experience in Africa, Europe, New Zealand, and South America.

Aleta Botts

Aleta Botts serves as the Coordinator for the Kentucky Farmland Transition Initiative, a project launched by Kentucky Farm Bureau to help keep farmland in the hands of active farmers. Aleta brings 25 years of experience in government, nonprofit, and private sectors to this role.

Wesley Tucker

Wesley Tucker is a Farm & Ranch Transition Specialist with University of Missouri Extension and cattle producer in the Ozarks. He has 24 years experience assisting agricultural producers throughout the U.S. His passion is assisting families through complicated family dynamics, so the farm can be a thriving business for future generations.
